ROBERT W. CHAMBERS THE RECKONING

Illustrated. 12mo. Ornamental Cloth, $1.50

The historical setting of this novel, the fourth chronologically in Mr. Chambers' series concerning early American history, of which the first two are "Cardigan" and "The Maid-at-Arms," serves only as a setting for one of the author's prettiest love stories. It is impossible not to sympathize with the hero, and we have all met and loved the heroine. This is Mr. Chambers' latest, most mature, and best work.

D. APPLETON AND COMPANY, Publishers, New York

OCTAVE THANET'S

THE MAN OF THE HOUR, Octave Thanet's new novel, is an indirect picture of a class not so often depicted—our American gentry. It is the same at root whether in the South, the East or the West, it is essentially provincial (although Boston and Baltimore and Philadelphia still have it and New York once had it, it only has a "smart set" now which is quite different) and it is essentially sane.

Foreigners don't realize that there is a class in America with traditions of race, with education and with the inherited power to rule which makes poverty only a temporary eclipse and keeps certain families prominent generation after generation.

Another thing: in the book is the strength and tenderness of a father's love. It is amazing how little chance "the old man" gets in fiction. The author shows how a father yearns after the heart of his son, even when he fumbles and loses his hold on it.

The author has also pictured a decent labor leader and some of his difficulties. Finally, while it is a book for grown up men and women, it is equally attractive to young people.

THE TRIDENT AND THE NET

A Novel

By the author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress"

With the publication of this novel the anonymous and widely popular author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress" enters a new literary field. Her powers of vivid description and narration, which lifted her former books above the ordinary class of biographies, in this volume have freer scope than ever before.

The scene is laid in New York, in Paris, and in Brittany—but a Brittany wholly new to the American reader—and the story of the contest between the good and evil in the nature of a man born to high rank and fortune, and of the influences by which that nature is alternately swayed, is so vibrant with life and emotion, its situations are altogether so novel and dramatic, that it may be described as a rare and triumphant piece of literary art.

Illustrated in Color by the Author. $1.50 net

Little Mother and Georgie — By Gertrude Smith

This is a companion volume to the author's other juvenile books. It tells of the good times Grandpa and little Florence had playing together, when Grandpa pretended to be a little boy of four named Georgie, with Florence for his mother. The story is suitable for children between the ages of three and seven.

Illustrated in color. Square Octavo, $1.30 net

Her Memory Book — By Helen Hayes

A dainty illustrated volume in which a record of various important and interesting events of girlhood days may be kept. In the volume may be inserted cards, invitations, samples of favorite frocks, photographs, and the hundred and one other things a girl likes to treasure.

Page embellishments in Sepia. Square quarto, Stamped in Gold, in Box, $2.00

A Proposal Under Difficulties — By John Kendrick Bangs

This is one of the most amusing of Mr. Bangs's little farces, full of sparkling dialogue, quick turns of speech, and humorous complications. It is exceedingly laughable when read aloud, and adapted to amateur theatricals.

(Black and White Series.) Illustrated, Cloth, 50 cents

HARPER & BROTHERS, Publishers, New York

THE trade will recall that two large editions of "MY LADY OF THE NORTH" (published October 15, 1904) were exhausted long before publication.

¶ This was indeed a good start.

¶ There has since been a steady demand for it. Seven editions have now been published, and the eighth is on the press.

¶ The sales have exceeded those of any but the biggest and best sellers.

¶ What is quite as significant,—there has been a constant influx of re-orders—lately an increasing number—from all directions, not only for a few copies to "fill in," but repeated duplications of original stock orders. The wide-awake bookseller cannot be unmindful of this argument.

¶ "MY LADY OF THE NORTH" has those "popular" qualities that insure a good sale through the months. It is just as salable now as ever. You cannot afford to have to refuse on it.

A BOOKBUYER'S BOOK

PAM

By BETTINA VON HUTTEN

The sales of PAM show that it is popular among the best class of bookbuyers. It does not have to be advertised, nor boomed, nor talked up.

The sort of people who have an account at their booksellers, and who are the mainstay of the bookselling business, like this book, and talk about it to their friends.

The result is that PAM is the fad; it is considered the proper thing by clever people. It is just the book to carry in stock.

The remarkable selling qualities of this book—VITAL HUMAN INTEREST and TRUE LITERARY MERIT—will keep it in this place for a long time to come. See that you are well stocked for the Autumn trade.

SOME RECENT REMARKABLE REVIEWS

"It is an effective story from any point of view, written with a swing of the imagination and a depth of feeling that are entrancing."—ROBERT BRIDGES in Collier's Weekly.

"These are the elements, we venture to say, of a tragic situation which the greatest novelist might approach with hesitation. It is Mr. Hichens' peculiar triumph that he carries it through to a masterly issue."—Everybody's Magazine.

"It is discouragingly seldom that a book comes to the reviewers' hands, which, by its virility and its honest merit as literature, in the old and true sense of the word, rises as high above the average as does 'THE GARDEN OF ALLAH.'"—Ainslee's Magazine.

"Neither the desert nor its denizens seem to have any secrets from him, and he records for us the soul of both with penetrating observation and subtle phrase. In all the three essentials of invention, style, and thought, this performance is highly commendable, and entitles Mr. Hichens to serious consideration."—The Dial (Chicago).

NOTES IN SEASON.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY will publish on the 7th inst. Anthony Hope's big and clever new novel, "A Servant of the Public."

C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston, have just brought out "The Baronet Ragpicker," a novel by Charles S. Coom.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish at once a new story by Holman F. Day, entitled "Squire Phin," the central figure of which is a shrewd, humorous, and original country lawyer of the best type.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish on the 16th inst. George Barr McCutcheon's new novel, "Nedra," the romantic story of an elopement, with a dash of adventure, which will have full-page illustrations in color by Harrison Fisher. Baroness von Hutten's remarkable novel, "Pam," is now in its ninth edition.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish towards the close of this month Robert W. Chambers's new novel, "The Reckoning"—the fourth, chronologically, in the author's series concerning early American history. The historical atmosphere of this novel, however, serves only as the setting for one of the author's prettiest love stories. The volume will be illustrated.

FOX, DUFFIELD & Co. announce a book of racy, witty American verse by Wallace Irwin, entitled "At the Sign of the Dollar," containing "Niagara Be Dammed," "To the Pure All Food is Pure," etc., with illustrations by E. W. Kemble; also, "An Eye for an Eye," by Clarence S. Darrow, counsel to Mayor Dunne, of Chicago, special counsel for the Teamster's Union, etc., the story of a murder and the murderer's expiation of his crime told to a friend who sits up with him in prison the night before the hanging.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will bring out shortly "McAllister and His Double," by Arthur Train, an amusing book of the adventures of a clubman and occasional detective and his valet, who resembles him in a most remarkable manner. The book has been illustrated by F. C. Yohn. They will also publish at an early date "Mrs. Radigan," by Nelson Lloyd, a very clever satire of society, telling in the best humor possible of the struggles, humiliations, and triumphs of an original and determined "climber."

THE CENTURY Co. will issue on the 27th instant a new volume of verse by Richard Watson Gilder, entitled, "In the Heights"; L. Frank Tooker's "Under Rocking Skies," a novel of the sea; a new novel by Helen R. Martin, author of "Tillie: A Mennonite Maid," entitled "Sabina," a study of Amish life; and three books for young people—"Queen Zixi of Ix," by L. Frank Baum; "Captain Myles Standish," by Tudor Jenks; "Pinkey Perkins: Just a Boy," by Captain Harold Hammond, U. S. A.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just issued "The Coming of Billy," by Margaret Westrup, author of "Elizabeth's Children" and "Helen Alliston." Billy is a small boy, whose father in India has consigned him to the care of a group of maiden aunts in England. Their only data on the rearing of lively small boys date back a generation, and are correspondingly vague. The resulting complications are exceedingly amusing. They have also just ready "Sonnets and Songs," by Helen Hay Whitney, and "Preliminaries of the Revolution," by Professor George Elliott Howard, of the University of Nebraska, the eighth volume in "The American Nation" series.

The beautiful private garden of Louis XIII. of France, is the scene of a most romantic love story. The lovely heroine who is living near it, under the protection of her nurse, is permitted to enter it by the old gardener, through, "the little green door." She meets the king unexpectedly in one of her visits; and not knowing who he is, loses her heart to him. He is also deeply fascinated by the charming, innocent girl, many intense scenes of love making being the result.

Little (A) cook book for a little girl; by the author of "Gala day luncheons." Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1905.] c. 9+179 p. D. cl., 75 c.
Suitable for girls from seven to fourteen, who are learning to make plain or pretty dishes, and are discouraged by the recipes in ordinary cook books. The book tells in a simple, vivacious way just how to prepare cereals and eggs, fish and meats, soups, salads, vegetables, desserts, and ices. Directions are also given for making different kinds of candy, as well as light luncheons for carrying to school.

Loomis, C: Battell. Minerva's manœuvres; the cheerful facts of a "return to nature"; il. by Frederic R. Gruger. N. Y., A. S. Barnes & Co., 1905. c. 10+415 p. D. cl., †$1.50.
A New York couple seek a country life that the wife may recuperate. They secure a furnished cottage for the summer, and take with them a colored cook, born and raised in New York. She is the Minerva of the story. She hates the darkness and silence of the country, fears every sound, longs for companionship and is utterly ignorant of everything in nature, animate and inanimate. She is always on the point of returning to New York, and it is her master and mistress's attempts at amusing and conciliating her that make the fun of the book.

An exposition and discussion of the basic principles of the Catholic Church founded by Christ, as an evidence of the love of the Son of God for man, and now known as the Established Church of England and the Episcopal Church of America. The author examines the church's claims as a Catholic religion and its position in regard to the Incarnation. Chapters are devoted to the priesthood, sacraments, worship, etc. with a concluding discussion of the Roman Catholic claims.

Westover, Clyde C. The romance of gentle Will: a hitherto unpublished chapter in the story of the love of the immortal bard. N. Y. and Wash., Neale Publishing Co., 1905. c. 3+297 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The hero is William Shakespeare, introduced as a lad caught in the act of poaching. He is brought before the queen, who is induced to pardon him through the intercession of one of her maids Anne Hathaway. The rest of his story is played chiefly in Elizabeth's court, the queen being shown as desperately in love with him. His comedies are produced under her patronage. Essex, Leicester and other of her favorites figure in the story, which ends with Shakespeare's marriage to Anne Hathaway.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

SEPTEMBER 2, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

ARE THE ENGLISH RAILWAY BOOKSTALLS DOOMED?

FOLLOWING closely upon the interest excited by the development of the London Times's library scheme, comes the rumor that W. H. Smith & Son's monopoly of the British railway bookstalls — a veritable "British institution" — is threatened. It seems that two of the leading English railway companies have decided to throw their bookstalls open to competition, and a big stir, naturally, has been created among the newspaper publishers by a report that Alfred Harmsworth was forming a company to take over the contract. Harmsworth denies the intention attributed to him, probably having come to the realization that no owner of a newspaper or magazine, nor a publisher of books, could hope to have the support of his competitors in conducting a general distributing agency. Besides, newspapers represent only a portion of the bookstall business, the book and magazine departments forming quite the most important and profitable part, and the publishers of these would also require a guarantee from a competitor that their interests would be protected.

The animus of the railway companies in throwing the bookstalls open to competition, however, is to be sought elsewhere than in their desire to limit the monopoly so long held by Smith & Son. For some time, owing to the development of electric traction and the extension of tramway traffic, the receipts of a large number of the old railway bookstalls have fallen off greatly, and many of these are not now even self-supporting; and the prospects are that, as electric railway traffic is bound to increase, these conditions will also grow worse. Hence, when the railway companies revised their rentals the Messrs. Smith & Son were not overanxious to incur an increase of rent. Naturally enough, the railroads, considering that Smith & Son were operating a gold mine on their lines, thought that nothing would be easier than to let the franchise to other dealers; and no doubt, at first blush, some dealers thought the offer tempting enough to seriously consider it. But what occurred to J. S. R. Phillips, the editor of the Yorkshire Post, must also have occurred to others, namely, that if Smith & Son took away their wholesale business from the bookstalls, a substantial source of the present revenue would have to be deducted in any calculations of their successors; and that, if the increased rentals sought by the railroads is an obstacle to Smith & Son, the bookstalls are not likely to prove profitable to any other company. As the London Publisher and Bookseller pertinently states it: "An old-established organization, with every department worked on the best system that long experience has taught [W. H. Smith & Sons have conducted this business for sixty-five years], must be at a better advantage in continuing a vast undertaking than a new firm. If, therefore, the terms of renewal are such that the firm prefer to retire from the field and adapt their business to other conditions, the only deduction to be drawn is that the limit has been reached at which the bookstalls can be made to pay."

"SYMBOLISM OF FORM" IN PRINTING.

THE significance of borders and devices used in printing has never been so well defined as by Henry Turner Bailey in the September number of The Printing Art. Mr. Bailey says: "Symbolism charms wherever it appears. It enriches and dignifies whatever it is allowed to touch. It transforms the common things of every day, puts soul into the clod, charges dead matter with spiritual force. Nowhere is this power of symbolism more attractively manifest than in the realm of printing, and in no realm is there a more cheering prospect of fresh manifestations of that power. The printer who would have his work prized, who has an ambition to make every piece of work a bit of fine art, cannot ignore symbolism. In fact, symbolism is one of the master-keys to the thousand problems of the profession."

THE NEWSDEALERS' CONVENTION.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF NEWSDEALERS, BOOKSELLERS AND STATIONERS began the first session of its twenty-sixth annual convention at the Boys' Industrial Association Hall, Wilkes-Barré, Pa., on the morning of August 29, Samuel Stratton, of Paterson, N. J., the president, in the chair. There were present delegates representing about 10,000 newsdealers in the United States. The first day was devoted to reports of committees, the appointment of committees, etc. Addresses were also made and discussed upon measures for further protecting the members and for more closely affiliating the newsboys and the newsdealers, and a suggestion was made that the newsboys be formed into an organization or taken in as a portion of the association.

The second day was largely taken up with the discussion of various subjects brought before the convention and the election of officers, which resulted in the following choice: President, Samuel Stratton, Paterson; first vice-president, William H. Kessler, Wilkes-Barré; second vice-president, A. D. Mynden, Albany; secretary, M. E. Golde, New York, anl treasurer, D. Brophy, New York. Niagara Falls was chosen for the place of meeting next year.

The delegates were entertained by the Wilkes-Barré Press Club to "A Night in Bohemia." They were also treated to a nineteen-mile trolley ride around the mountains and to a visit in the mines.

WESTERN PRINTERS TO STRIKE.

LEADERS of the compositors' strike against book and job printing houses in Chicago this week renewed their canvass of firms in the Chicago Typothetæ, threatening to call out union printers wherever proprietors refused to support the union in its struggle for the eight-hour work day. By aiming to have a general strike of job printers in all the big cities near Chicago, from Ohio to Missouri and Minnesota, local unionists plan to halt the importation of non-union compositors from St. Louis, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Cleveland and other cities where the Chicago Typothetæ have been advertising for men to work under "open shop" rules. With these cities themselves in the throes of a strike members of Typographical Union, No. 16, believe there would be no surplus of printers to be sent to Chicago.

Several of the large printing houses are said to be converting upper rooms of their buildings into barracks for strikebreakers. The employers anticipate a long and bitter fight.

In view of the fact that the strike is likely to extend also to the East, a meeting of the Periodical Publishers' Association was held on the afternoon of August 16 at the rooms of the Aldine Association. George H. Ellis, William Green and Isaac H. Blanchard, representing the United Typothetæ, and John H. Eggers, chairman of the Executive Committee of the New York Typothetæ, were present to address the members on the subject of the proposed strike for a shorter workday on the part of the typographical union, January 1, 1906. A general discussion of the question by the members followed the addresses, resulting in the passage of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the periodical publishers of America should pledge their moral and financial support to the United Typothetæ in their determination to resist the present adoption of the proposed eight-hour rule of the typographical unions.

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be instructed to present to the members at the next monthly meeting recommendations of plans, together with forms of agreement ready for signature, by which the above resolution may be best carried into effect.

As we go to press nearly one thousand men have struck.

A SUNDAY NEWSPAPER SECTION NOT A MAGAZINE.

JUDGE HOLT, in the United States Circuit Court on August 30, denied an application of the Star Publishing Co., (William R. Hearst,) for an injunction to restrain the publishers of The American Illustrated Magazine, formerly Leslie's Monthly, from issuing their publication under a title containing any combination of the words "American" and "Magazine." Mr. Hearst's contention was that the special article section of his newspaper, issued on Sunday, was an American magazine having the only right to that title.

Archibald Cox, representing The American Illustrated Magazine, argued that the supplement of the Hearst newspapers, though billed to dealers as "Hearst's Sunday Magazine," was in no sense a magazine, but an integral part of a Sunday newspaper, never sold independently, and with pages numbered as a mere section of the newspaper issue. Mr. Cox contended that if Mr. Hearst's claims were true his paper has defrauded the post-office by sending a magazine through the mails at newspaper rates.

Judge Holt held that Mr. Hearst's American magazine supplement was purely an integral part of his Sunday newspaper and not in any sense a magazine.

AUXILIARY AIDS TO BOOKSELLING.

MR. FOOTE, of Syracuse, N. Y., recently contributed his quota to a general discussion by the American Booksellers' Association, at their convention last May, on the relation of the circulating library to the booktrade. It had been objected that the tendency was to diminish the individual sales by making one book go very far. "On the contrary," said Mr. Foote, "the circulating library and the women's clubs are valuable auxiliary aids. Suppose some novel is being talked about. One of the women reads it as it comes her way, and speaks of it to her friends, who, not to be behindhand, purchase the volume at once, rather than wait their turns for it. In their clubs, too, the women like to be up to date, and keep pretty well abreast of the new books so that they can take their part in any discussion that may arise. A novel in which there is any distinct situation is sure to be made the basis for papers and discussion in the women's clubs, and not to be 'up' in the latest book or fad is considered a dreadful thing in suburban circles."

COMMUNICATIONS.

CUTS IN STATE SCHOOL BOOKS.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: There are several State school books sold here to the pupils of the public schools for less than the dealer who sells them to private schools can buy them from the publishers. Maury's Manual of Geography is sold at 88 cents and is listed at $1.25, less one-fifth; Maury's Elementary Geography is sold at 40 cents and is listed at 55 cents, less one-fifth; Hansell's Higher History is sold at 70 cents and is listed at $1, less one-fifth; Cook & Cropsey's Elementary Arithmetic is sold at 35 cents and is listed at 50 cents, less one-fifth; Cook & Cropsey's Advanced Arithmetic is sold at 45 cents and is listed at 60 cents, less one-fifth. Don't you think that this is an injustice to retailers all over the country? Yours truly,

L. HAMMEL DRY GOODS CO.,
per TRUEMAN.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM TECUMSEH SMITH.

WILLIAM TECUMSEH SMITH, one of the best-known booksellers of Central New York, died on August 18, at Utica, N. Y., in the house, at 9 Summit Place, where he had lived for the last eighteen years. Though Mr. Smith had been ill for eight years, suffering from a nasal catarrh that degenerated into tuberculosis, he attended to business up to the day of his death. Returning to his home he settled down to read a newspaper; a few minutes later he laid his head back in the chair and peacefully breathed his last.

Mr. Smith was born in New Hartford, Oneida County, N. Y., January 1, 1857. While yet a child his parents removed to Ackrington, England, where young Smith's boyhood days were spent. At the age of twelve he returned to this country, settling in Utica, and soon after entered the employ of N. Hollister, bookseller, where he was engaged in delivering newspapers and periodicals. He afterward became a salesman and obtained a thorough knowledge of the business. Later he obtained a position in the wholesale dry goods house of John C. Hieber as bookkeeper. In 1877 he associated himself with Henry M. Bristol and formed the firm of Bristol & Smith, buying up the book and stationery stocks of Whipple and Alfred Hollister. The firm established itself at 149 Genesee Street and did business there for some time. In the meantime Mr. Bristol went to St. Paul, Minn., establishing the bookselling and stationery firm of Bristol, Smith & Freeman. At the end of about a year Mr. Smith, who had not left Utica, sold out his interest in the St. Paul business, but continued his Utica store at 169 Genesee Street. John L. Grant, who had been in Mr. Smith's employ, had gone to Syracuse, but returned to Utica, and in 1888, with Fred. W. Luker, formed the present firm of W. T. Smith & Co. For the past fifteen or sixteen years the firm has been doing a large retail and wholesale business in books, stationery and wall paper at 145 Genesee Street, in the Arcade Building. It is one of the largest concerns of this kind in that section of the State. Mr. Smith was one of the organizers and directors of the Liberty Wall Paper Company, which does business at Schuylerville, Tompkins County, N. Y. It is one of the largest concerns in the wall paper line in this country and has been very successful. Mr. Smith was one of the directors at the time of his death. Mr. Smith was also a director in the Utica Heater Company, which was organized in 1889 for the manufacture of hot air furnaces.

The Utica Daily Press, to which we are indebted for the material of this sketch, paid the following tribute to Mr. Smith: "Mr. Smith stood high in the ranks of Utica business men. He had begun at the lowest round of the ladder and by hard work and tireless energy had risen to prominence. He was a man of foresight and great executive ability and a most indomitable worker. In the ranks of our business men it would be hard to find one who equalled him in diligence and close attention to his business. He had a high sense of honor and his integrity was never questioned. In his dealings he was frank and straightforward, and his yes meant yes and his no, no. The financial institutions of Utica had unbounded confidence in him. He was a man of cheerful disposition and pleasing address."

Mr. Smith was a member of Faxton Lodge, F. and A. M., of the Royal Arcanum, the Utica Chamber of Commerce, the Oneida Historical Society, and of the Church of the Reconciliation. He was one of the first directors of the Consolidated Retail Booksellers. Mr. Smith leaves a wife, but no other near relatives. The business will be continued under the old firm name, John L. Grant remaining in charge of the book and stationery department, and Fred. W. Luker in charge of the wholesale and retail wall-paper departments.

A CABLE despatch of August 25 announces the death of Norman Warne, the youngest of the three sons of Frederick Warne, who since the father's death have conducted the business of Frederick Warne & Co., of London. Since 1879 the firm of Frederick Warne & Co. has been under the control of the Warne family exclusively. The elder Mr. Warne retired in 1895, since which time the affairs have been in the hands of the three sons of the founder, who died in 1901. The remaining brothers are the Messrs. Harold and Fruing.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Atlantic Monthly for September contains an article on "The Problem of Federal Printing," by W. S. Rossiter, of the Census Bureau, a statistical account of the enormous development and great cost of this branch of the Government's activity.

A MAGAZINE for "irrepressibles" is to be the outcome of the recent severing of Oscar Lovell Triggs's connection with To-morrow, a Chicago publication. His newest venture will be called Triggs's Magazine, and will be "for people who cannot be outfaced by irrational things," the editor says.

THE September Arena has among its many bold discussions of present-day political and economic problems and conditions an extended book study on J. H. Hyslop's "Science and the Future Life"; an editorial on "Centres of Life and Leading," by the editor, O. B. Flower, and a critical study of "The Theatre of Edmond Rostand," by Professor Archibald Henderson.

MRS. HUMPHRY WARD has finally named her new novel, which is to begin in the November Century, "Fenwick's Career." In the September magazine announcement is made of this story under the title "Fenwick's Ambitions," but a cable message from Mrs. Ward announces the change. The story is of an artist who leaves his young wife and child in the country and goes up to London, on borrowed money, to seek his fortune.

THE September issue of The Printing Art, published by the University Press, Cambridge, Mass., contains a suggestive article on "Symbolism of Form," by Henry Turner Bailey, defining the significance of borders and devices used in printing, with a number of illustrations. Other features of this number are representative inserts in colors and typographic displays of current styles. The Printing Art is very properly described as the "fashionplate of printerdom."

THE September issue of The Burlington Magazine, published in this country by Robert Grier Cooke, contains an interesting brief note of the portrait of Aretino, by Titian, which was recently sold in London for an enormous sum, with a reproduction of the picture; a paper on Dalow, one of the most accomplished of modern French sculptors, with plates; a continuation of Mr. Clouston's studies of the minor English furniture makers of the 18th century, and other articles of interest. The frontispiece is a photogravure after a charming example of Romney, his study for the "Egremont Family Piece," at Petworth.

THE first number of a new art magazine will be issued this month, bearing the imprint of Moffat, Yard & Company, of New York City, as publishers. The magazine will be called The Scrip, and each number will be illustrated with a duograph, photogravure or colored frontispiece and with line prints. In addition to articles on art subjects of permanent importance, each number will contain a list of the current art exhibitions for the month. The Scrip will devote considerable attention to the arts and crafts movement. It will also contain reviews of books on the various forms of art. The new magazine will be edited by Miss Elizabeth Luther Cary, well and favorably known in connection with her contributions to Scribner's, the New York Times Review, and her books on Tennyson, Browning, the Rossettis and William Morris, published through G. P. Putnam's Sons.

The Bookseller and Stationer, of Montreal, in its "Coming of Age Number," dated August, gives a survey of "Book Publishing in Canada," by Arthur Conrad, illustrated with portraits of the leading representatives of the Canadian book trade. Other articles of interest, illustrated with portraits, are "Montreal's Wholesale and Retail Book Trade, Past and Present," "The Retail Book and Stationery Trade of Winnipeg," by F. R. Munro; "The Story of Twenty-one Years," an account of The Bookseller and Stationer, since it was founded, in 1884, by J. J. Dyas, to the present under the management of the Maclean Publishing Company; "Canada's Wholesale Stationery Interests"; "The Montreal Stationery Market;" "Canada's Oldest Book Traveller—W. C. Bell," and other items of interest. The Bookseller and Stationer is one of the ablest-edited book-trade journals in America, and deserves the generous support of all interested in Canadian book trade affairs. On behalf of the book trade of the United States we congratulate it upon its anniversary, and trust it will enjoy many more years in prosperity.

BUSINESS NOTES.

GENESEO, ILL.—William Austin has succeeded to the book business of E. S. Woehr.

GENESEO, ILL.—L. B. Smith has sold his book business to Hart R. Sweeney.

OAKLAND, CAL.—Lotta M. Chasber, bookseller, has sold out to Oscar T. Barber.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—J. E. Barr & Co., recently with Henry T. Coates & Co., have removed from 1107 Walnut Street, to larger quarters at 1124 Walnut Street, where they have a large stock of engravings, old color prints, autographs, Americana and rare books generally.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE NEW WAY PUBLISHING COMPANY, Washington, D. C., have just issued a third edition of Henry Frank's "Shrine of Silence," first published by The Abbey Press.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have disposed of seven editions of Parrish's remarkable story of the Civil War—"My Lady of the North"—and are now putting the eighth edition through the press.

THE HOME PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish on the 15th instant "The Adventures of Dr. Burton," by Archibald Clavering Gunter, describing the experiences of a philanthropic criminologist in New York.

W. A. WILDE & Co. will inaugurate the new Uncle Sam's Old Time Stories series with a book by Mary Hazleton Wade, to be entitled "The Coming of the White Men," and to be illustrated by Sears Gallagher.

ALBERT BRANDT, Trenton, N. J., will bring out this fall Joaquin Miller's "The Building of the City Beautiful," a suggestive social vision by the typical American poet who was honored by a special day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

HINDS, NOBLE & ELDREDGE, New York, have secured control of two valuable Teachers' Reading Circle books, viz., Findley's "The Teacher and His Work," and Blackmar's "The Story of Human Progress," formerly published by the authors.

T. WERNER LAURIE, London, has just brought out a new story by Fergus Hume, entitled "Lady Jim of Curzon Street." While this is a smart society novel in place of his more familiar detective work, Mr. Hume gives his readers plenty of mystery and excitement.

EDWARD R. HERRICK, who is well known in the trade, has made arrangements with Frederick J. Drake & Co., Chicago, to represent their line of publications in the Eastern market. A full line of samples can be seen at 18 East 17th Street, New York City, in the office of F. M. Buckles & Co.

BRENTANO'S will publish about Sept. 15 a new edition of Oscar Wilde's "Intentions," with a fine photogravure portrait of the author after a picture by Sarony. An appreciative essay on Wilde's literary work by Mr. Pollard forms the introduction to a very handsomely manufactured book.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has in preparation "Sunday Talks for Boys and Girls," by Barbara Yechton, author of "A Lovable Crank," etc.; "One Thousand and One Modern Anecdotes," illustrations, incidents, episodes, etc., by Alfred H. Miles, author of "One Thousand and One Anecdotes;" also, "Day by Day Duty," a volume of sermons for the Christian Seasons, by H. J. Wilmot Buxton.

THE LANGUAGES PRINTING COMPANY, 15 West Eighteenth Street, New York City, call attention to their extensive assortment of picture post-cards. Among these the most attractive are the Charles Dana Gibson Post-Cards, ten different kinds; the Life Post-Cards, two sets of ten different cards each; the Buster Brown Post-Cards, ten different kinds; also, cards with New York City views, foreign scenery, portraits of well-known actors and actresses, etc.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. have in preparation a special edition of George Cavendish's "Life and Death of Cardinal Wolsey." This book was first printed in 1641, about eighty years after the death of the author, who was gentleman usher to the Cardinal, and died in obscurity in 1561. The book will be bound in green boards and buckram, with the Wolsey arms blazoned in gold, and will be illustrated with eleven full-page photogravures, reproduced in sepia and red chalk from Holbein portraits.

A THIRD edition of Professor R. K. Duncan's remarkable book, "The New Knowledge," has been ordered from A. S. Barnes & Co. by the English publishers. In spite of the fact that a second large American edition was ordered on press at an apparently early date it has been a difficult matter to supply the demand for this "American Huxley's" book. Several of the volumes in Messrs. Barnes's successful Trail Makers series of original history and exploration are appearing in England under the general title of Great American Explorers.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have in preparation a book on "Old Provence," by Theodore Andrea Cook, author of "Old Touraine," etc. It will contain the history of this beautiful section of France, together with some legends about it and its people and descriptions of its scenery. It will be, like "Old Touraine," in two volumes, and profusely illustrated. They have nearly ready "The City, the Hope of Democracy," a study of municipal problems, by Frederic C. Howe, of Cleveland, author of "Taxation and Taxes in the United States under the Internal Revenue System, 1791-1895," etc.

HENRY HOLT & CO. will publish at once "Teja," by Sudermann, whose "Magda" has been admired in nearly every civilized country. "Teja" is a unique little tragedy which pictures the last acts and state of mind of a Goth maiden face to face with death. They have also nearly ready a classroom edition of René Bazin's novelette, "Les Oberle," a picture of the lingering effects of war in Alsace, thirty years later, edited by Professor Cabeen, of Syracuse University; also, a collection of representative English essays from Bacon to Stevenson, edited by Professor W. C. Bronson, of Brown University.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish at once "A Handbook of Physiology," by Dr. Austin Flint, which is said to represent the essentials of human physiology as it exists to-day, illustrated with more than fifty original histological plates taken directly from objects by three-color photographic process; "The Italian Lakes, Painted by Ella Du Cane, Described by Richard Baghot," with seventy-five full-page illustrations in color; the revised and enlarged edition of Mrs. Roger A. Pryor's "Reminiscences of Peace and War;" also, "How to Collect Books," by J. H. Slater, who has included in this manual much information on the points which the beginner or the amateur needs to understand.

THE PARRISH PIVOTED TYPE CO., 5 East Forty-second Street, New York City, has published an interesting and instructive pamphlet for teachers and parents, entitled "Forty Exercises in Training the Minds of Children," by William George Jordan, author of "Mental Training by Analysis, Law and Analogy," "The Kingship of Self-Control," etc., and editor-in-chief of The Search-Light. These simple exercises have been arranged to be used in connection with the Parrish Pivoted Type System, which consists of a box of large type letters pivoted so that they penetrate a specially prepared cork tablet. The exercises have been planned to quicken the mind of the child in various directions—to teach spelling, mental arithmetic and the use of words, etc. There is an element of game in the system which makes it attractive to a single child as well as to a group of children.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. will publish shortly a volume of Tom Masson's best humor, elaborately illustrated and with a cover from a drawing of Charles Dana Gibson. Mr. Masson has been associated with Life for the last twelve years as literary and managing editor, and his extraordinary versatility has been constantly in evidence. Last year he published a volume of humorous and society verse that met with a large vogue, especially among the younger generation of readers. The new book is largely prose, but contains a few of his best and latest things in verse. They have also nearly ready Jessie Willcox Smith's new series of child pictures in color. It will be entitled "First Steps in a Child's Life," and will include five pictures exquisitely reproduced by lithography. These pictures are genuine little comedies of childhood, and are, in a human sense, more interesting than anything Miss Smith has heretofore done.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish on the 27th inst. a book of jolly nonsense and many pictures that will appeal alike to girls and boys and grown-up children, entitled "Queen Zixi of Ix," by L. Frank Baum, the author of "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," and the originator of the famous Wogglebug; also, "Captain Myles Standish," by Tudor Jenks, intended to make young readers better acquainted with American history through intimacy with individual characters—the life of Captain Myles Standish and the history of the Plymouth colony being closely interwoven. One of the early fall juveniles announced by the Century Company is from the pen of Captain Harold Hammond, a West Point graduate and instructor. The book deals with the adventures of "Pinkey Perkins: Just a Boy," and is written with such sympathetic understanding of the youthful point of view, it is said, that it might be the record of the writer's own boyhood.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY will publish on the 15th inst. Norman Duncan's new book, "The Mother," a keen analysis of the elements of the human heart, which will also be brought out in a limited edition de luxe, with special decorations. Early in October they will publish Dr. J. M. Ludlow's new novel, "Sir Raoul," which has as its background the fall of Constantinople and the dawn of modern history. They have in press a volume entitled "A World-Wide Revival," by George T. B. Davis, describing the personality and work of Dr. R. A. Torrey, the evangelist, and of Charles M. Alexander, the singer, who accompanied Dr. Torrey in his revival meetings during the last four years; also, the long-promised volume from W. J. Dawson, "Makers of Fiction," the third in the trio that Dr. Dawson has prepared in the realm of literary criticism, the two previous volumes covering, one Prose and the other Poetry, said to be remarkable for the sanity, accuracy and clearness with which it presents the course of the rising tide of fiction.

THE application of Grant Richards, the London publisher, for an order of discharge in bankruptcy came before Registrar Brougham on Aug. 4, and was disposed of by an order suspending the discharge for two years from July 14. The estimated liabilities, according to the official receiver's report, were £36,495, but it was stated that these might be increased to as much as £48,995 in certain contingencies. Of the assets £10,300 had been realized, and the value of the unrealized assets was estimated at £10,075. The official receiver's report regarding the bankrupt's conduct of his business and his manner of living was very unfavorable. In explanation of the private expenditure it was stated that Mr. Richards had spent considerable sums in entertaining authors, booksellers, and other persons who might have assisted him in business. The registrar, in giving judgment, remarked that this was an unfortunate case, as the bankrupt had a large business, which, so late as November, 1904, was valued at £50,000. According to the London Academy, Mrs. Grant Richards, wife of the bankrupt, has started a publishing business of her own.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation "The Yellow Journalist," by Miriam Michelson, of which the scene is San Francisco and the heroine Rhoda Massey, who leads a life of gay adventure; "Duke of Devil May Care," by Harris Dickson; "The Giants," by Mrs. Fremont Older, a story attacking the much-discussed oil trusts; "At the Emperor's Wish," by Oscar King Davis, very timely, as it is a Japanese war novel; also "The Carlyles," a new romance by the ever successful Mrs. Burton Harrison. This firm is to be congratulated on the success of their undertaking in bringing out "Adolescence: its Psychology and its Relations to Physiology, Anthropology, Sociology, Sex, Crime, Religion and Education;" G. Stanley Hall's fine work in two volumes, which is already selling in the thousands. Robert W. Chambers's "Iole" has also entered its third thousand. In new fiction they are receiving large advance orders for "The Reckoning," by Robert W. Chambers; "Outside the Law," by James Barnes; and "Reptiles," by H. W. McVicar. Among their juvenile announcements are "Four in Camp," by Ralph Henry Barbour; "The Outcast Warrior," by Kirk Monroe; and "Forest Land," by Robert W. Chambers, the latter a picture-book, handsomely illustrated in colors. For the holidays they are preparing de luxe editions of Kipling's "Seven Seas," and of Gilbert Parker's "The Seats of the Mighty."

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY, The Bodley Head, has just brought out an interesting book by Gilbert K. Chesterton, entitled "Heretics." The author does not altogether approve of the heretic who thinks he is a heretic, and he has some things to say on the measure of such men as Rudyard Kipling, Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells, Whistler, and others. Speaking of Mr. Kipling's interest in militarism, the author says, he is as wrong as his critics, that Mr. Kipling is not attracted by the element of courage, but the element of discipline. The modern army is a miracle of organization, and that is the truly Kiplingite idea. So far from having preached that a soldier cleaning his sidearm is to be adored because he is military, Kipling, says Mr. Chesterton, preaches that the baker baking loaves and the tailor cutting coats is as military as anybody. Bernard Shaw is set down as appearing to be eccentric because of his devotion to the strict truth. Mr. Chesterton writes of H. G. Wells and The Giants, Omar and the Sacred Vine, the Mildness of the Yellow Press, Smart Novelists and the Smart Set, of the wit of Whistler and other topics, which he handles in his usual characteristic style. They announce that "The Morals of Marcus Ordeyne," by William J. Locke, is now being put to press for the fifth impression, and arrangements are now under way for the dramazation of this novel.

Dodd, Mead & Co. will issue this fall "The Declaration of Independence: its History," a very important work in two volumes, by J. H. Hazelton, which tells of the history of this great document beginning with 1774, following with the initial steps taken by the various colonies; Jefferson's share in the drafting; the help of John Adams; the position of Hancock; and an account of how, when and where each member signed the document. Then comes a graphic description of the effect of the Declaration on this country and England, followed by a chapter on the present resting place of the original document. They will also bring out "The Minutes of the Committee of Safety of the County of Tryon from the first meeting in the Palatine District, Aug. 27, 1774, to Nov. 24, 1775." edited and annotated and illustrated with portraits, views, and facsimiles. The Tryon County of Revolutionary days included very much more than the present limits, and the work is a very important and interesting Revolutionary historical narrative relating to Central New York. Later in the season they will bring out two juveniles sure of warm reception—"The Wild Flower Fairy Book," by Esther Singleton, whose "Golden Rod Fairy Book" was so popular, and who has now made selections from the folk trees of all nations. Her book will be illustrated and decorated in fine holiday style. The other juvenile is a book for boys and girls by Barbara Yechton, who always presents healthy-minded youngsters who think and do things as real children think and do them.

Doubleday, Page & Co. will publish on the 7th inst. "The Colonel's Dream," by Charles W. Chesnutt; also, "A Southern Girl in '61," by Mrs. B. Giraud Wright, and "Paintings of the Louvre," by Dr. Arthur Mahler. On Oct. 5 they will have ready a "Book of New Games and Amusements," by Meredith Nugent and Victor J. Smedley. This contains all their wonderful soap-bubble tricks which attracted such general attention throughout the country, as well as the recipe used by them for producing giant bubbles lasting from five to ten minutes. It tells how to sail yacht races in the clouds, how to make sunshine engines, how to have a circus on a kite string, how to make toys for the seashore, how to make locomotives, automobiles, tops, merry-go-rounds, egg-shell clowns, and ever so many things fully as a novel. The book is profusely illustrated with effective and practical drawings made by the inventors themselves. The publishers have postponed the issue of H. Rider Haggard's "Ayesha" until October. "Claims and Counter-claims," by Mrs. Maud Wilder Goodwin, published by this firm, has been recommended for purchase in all American libraries by the American Library Association. It contains a clever little episode of the dedication of a "Carnegie Library" in a little Western town. The publishers also announce that Dixon's "The Clansman" has been translated into Japanese, and has been adopted for presentation in the Japanese store at Portsmouth. Mrs. Gene Stratton Porter's "Freckles" has also reached a third edition, and a Western employer has just ordered 150 copies of the book for distribution among his employees.

The John C. Winston Company has issued during the past week the New Deerfoot Series, by Edward S. Ellis, with illustrations in color and black by J. Steeple Davis. This series comprises three volumes entitled "Deerfoot in the Forest," "Deerfoot on the Prairies," and "Deerfoot in the Mountains." The author prepared this series in response to numerous letters received from the readers of his first Deerfoot Series, asking him for more stories with the character of Deerfoot, the Shawnee, as the hero. These works are juvenile historical romances, for in them is woven the history of the "Lewis and Clark Expedition" and the "Winning of the West." They have also just issued "Helps and Hints in Nursing," by J. Q. Griffith, M.D., written in popular language, intended for family and reference use; and "The History of Old Pine Street Church," one of the Revolutionary churches of Philadelphia, which contains seventy-two historical illustrations, and was edited by the eighth pastor of the church, Hughes Oliphant Gibbons. To the International Series of Bibles has been added the new "Christian Worker's Bible," which has been announced to the trade from time to time. The first edition of this work is now ready for delivery. Almost the entire edition has been sold on advance orders, and a new edition is now in process and will be ready for delivery in October. A "Self-Pronouncing India Paper Bible" has also been added to the line. The paper used in the preparation of this Bible is unusually bright and opaque. The publishers have been making many experiments with India Bible paper during the past three years, and consider this new edition and subsequent editions, which will be issued on the same paper next month, to be satisfactory in every respect, and expect to complete negotiations for using the entire product of this India Bible paper that can be produced in the mill in which it was made.

Chronicles of the Little Tot

FEW, if any, of the recent poets have attracted so much attention as Edmund Vance Cooke. "His poems," says the New York Sun, "are full of cleverness." "He has the poet's faculty of entering into the various phases of life," says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and the Baltimore Sun adds: "His work contains real literary merit." The Daily Mail-Tribune gets enthusiastic and states: "Mr. Cooke is little less than a wonder. In humor and pathos he is equally strong." In Utica, the Observer prints: "Mr. Cooke is a poet of no mean genius. He has written some splendid verse, portraying pathos and humor that are true to life." The Free Press says: "There is in him something of Riley, something of Field, nor is there lacking the keenness of Twain, yet, unlike them all, he is the original Cooke, the cordial and genial poet."

Rose o' the River

BY

KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN

Illustrated in color by

GEORGE WRIGHT

It is a charming story of the River Saco, with its wild beauty, its exciting log-driving, heroism, and romance, and it is sure to captivate the many loving friends of REBECCA.

The book has ten full-page illustrations in color, an attractive cover, and a decorative jacket with a portrait of the heroine. The large orders received far in advance of publication have plainly indicated the eager interest with which its appearance has been awaited.

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without cost to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year; to foreign countries, $4.00 a year.

The American Catalog (New Series) 1900-1905

Five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3000 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

☞ A second or Supplementary volume to the above will be published in October, giving the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others who want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, uniform, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $12.00.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists at the end of the volume. These lists, all bound in one volume for ready reference, with marginal index guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Indexes to The Publishers' Trade List Annual

The volume for 1902 contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues included in the volume of THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing, by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. This volume, with The Supplementary Indexes for 1903-1904, in two alphabets (1589 8vo pages, double column, nonpareil type), bound in cloth, with thumb indexes, $7.00. (Only 27 copies remain.)

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The Library Journal

Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Library Index to Periodicals and Current Events.

MONTHLY (indexing 45 periodicals taken in most libraries, large and small). Subscription, $3.00 per year. Single copies, 25 cents.

QUARTERLY cumulation (indexing 84 periodicals in all, including the 45 in the monthly index). Subscription, $3.00 per year. Single numbers not sold separately.

☞To Library Journal subscribers a special rate of $2.00 for either, or $4.00 for both, is offered.

The Annual Literary Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. (Published annually.) 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

The English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. (London, Sampson Low, Marston & Co.) 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

The American Educational Catalogue

Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, and author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Booktrade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo, boards, each, $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. What the Critics Say

"'The Image in the Sand' is a love romance, but it is in part love of a very weird sort. Spiritualism, hypnotism, demoniac possession, white and black magic, oriental theosophy—all are found among the component parts of this tale."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

"The quiet, intense conviction of Mr. Benson's pages cannot fail entirely of a certain impressiveness."—Times Saturday Review, New York City.

"Mr. Benson's work is well-nigh flawless—masterful in its artistic unity and in its complete saturation with the actuality of what it portrays."—Pittsburgh Gazette.

"The works of this stimulating writer are always luminous with the latest fad of the groping fashionable world. Any book bearing the name of the author of 'Dodo' and 'The Challoners' is certain of a welcome, whether the scenes be laid in the drawing rooms of London's nobility or in the haunts of Egypt's mysterious sorcerers."—Herald, Boston.

"'The Image in the Sand' is certainly good reading. Its occultation is too modern to evoke the old-time 'creeps,' but it has all the advantages of the semi-scientific speculations and researches of the day. Its normal part is done with skill and insight, and there are some delightfully wholesome English people in its pages."—Evening Mail, New York City.
